Why Sociology?

"Sociology has taught me that there are always more answers than we think. If we get creative and are able to see the world through different viewpoints, we can come to many more solutions that are more likely to have an impact and be more true to who they are intended to serve."
- Emily H. '15, Non-profit Project Manager

"CSU Sociology set me up for success in my career because sociology is working with people. A lot of the classes I took helped me understand how people work, where culture comes from, how culture is created, and how people identify with themselves, and I think that really set the foundation that I needed for me to do my job now."
- Monica P. '15, Title V Project Director
